

Role Profile

Senior Button Clicking Officer

Reference: TEST-001-CLICK

Location: Wherever you happen to be testing from

Salary: 5 imaginary gold stars per successful click

Contract Type: Completely fictional

Hours: Flexible, as this job doesn't actually exist

About the Role

Have you ever clicked a button and thought, "Yes, that's definitely a button"?

We're seeking an enthusiastic and detail-oriented Senior Button Clicking Officer to help us test our recruitment system by clicking things, reading things and occasionally wondering where that link goes.

This role exists entirely for testing purposes. No actual work will be undertaken, no employment will be offered, and no one will ever ask you to attend a meeting about it.

Key Responsibilities

- Clicking buttons with purpose and determination.
 - Confirming that pages load as expected.
 - Reading instructions at least some of the time.
 - Uploading documents that contain absolutely no sensitive information.
 - Identifying unexpected behaviours, including but not limited to:
 - disappearing buttons
 - mysterious error messages
 - forms that strongly disagree with your date of birth
 - Resisting the urge to submit your real CV.
-

Essential Requirements

Applicants must be able to demonstrate:

- The ability to click a mouse, tap a screen or use a keyboard.
 - A keen eye for things that don't look quite right.
 - Basic detective skills.
 - An appreciation for the phrase "Have you tried refreshing the page?"
 - The ability to distinguish between a live vacancy and a test vacancy.
-

Desirable Requirements

It would be advantageous if you have:

- Previous experience pressing "Next".
 - A proven track record of finding bugs moments before release.
 - The patience to complete online forms.
 - Strong opinions about password requirements.
-

Benefits

Successful applicants (which, to be clear, there won't be any) will enjoy:

- Unlimited imaginary annual leave.
 - Access to a state-of-the-art fictional office.
 - Free tea and coffee in a break room that doesn't exist.
 - The satisfaction of helping improve myjobscotland services.
-

How to Apply

Simply complete the application process and submit your test application.

Please remember:

This is not a real job. No recruitment activity is taking place. Applications submitted will not be considered for employment. The vacancy exists solely to support testing activities.

If you've reached this point and are still interested in the role, you may already have the curiosity and attention to detail required of a great tester.

The myjobscotland Team 🚀